

To the Advertising Public.

What more conclusive opinion as to the popularity and usefulness of a local journal could be furnished than that derived from a critical survey of its columns? In the issue of the RECORD for March 27th will be found eighty-one Bloomfield advertisements embracing nearly every trade and business in our village. In that part of the paper devoted to local and town affairs are nearly four columns of matter—correspondence relating to affairs of importance to all, local news items, etc. Self-adulation and mere assertions on the part of a publisher as to the number of copies "circulated" may take for a time, but stubborn facts of the nature enumerated above will ultimately make themselves known and appreciated.

We refer, with some degree of pride, to those merchants in Newark who have availed themselves of our columns as an advertising medium. They will be found in a column by themselves, and though few in number are among the most reliable houses in town. We trust it will not be long ere others will find it not only advantageous but necessary for them to advertise with us.

We have but a limited space that can be devoted to Newark advertisements—about one column in addition to what we already have, and it will be impossible for us, without enlarging our paper, to provide space for any more. It would therefore be well for those who desire to reach the people of Bloomfield and Montclair, to do so by advertising at once in the BLOOMFIELD RECORD.

STATE ITEMS.

William Adams, near Libertyville, Sussex county, killed a wolf with a sled stake one day recently.

Large numbers of wild ducks have put in their appearance along the Raritan, and sporting men are making it quite warm for them: a large number have been bagged.

The Morris Jerseyman tells rather a hard story of a New York reporter being robbed on the cars while asleep of $1.75, while on his way to report the Lusignani murder trial at Morristown.

The residence of Mr. Richard Kingsland, at Franklin, was entered by thieves on Sunday night and robbed of about $200 worth of goods. A reward of $50 is offered elsewhere.

Robert C. Brewster, a cloth cutter, residing in Jersey City, committed suicide on Saturday night by cutting his throat with a razor, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Simson Bashford, No. 180 Chestnut street in this city.

It is proposed to make improvements in the harbor of Elizabeth port by dredging and the construction of dykes, thus making an enclosed harbor in front of the port. The expense of course, would be defrayed by the Government, and an application to Congress for an appropriation is to be made at the next session.

On Saturday morning an unknown man was struck by the trolley of the Morris and Essex Railroad, at the west end of the Erie tunnel, and fatally injured. The train was stopped and the man picked up and brought to Hoboken, and placed upon a litter to be taken to St. Mary's Hospital, but died before arriving there. He was so severely injured as to be unable to give his name.

John Daraguet was killed at West End on the Midland Railroad at Montclair, evening. He was removing his household goods from Paterson. The train on which they were carried had stopped at the station and he was having them removed to the depot building; while thus engaged he was struck by a drill engine and knocked down. The wheel passed over his head crushing it into a shapeless mass.

Appalling Disaster! Wreck of the White Star Steamship Atlantic!

A most terrible disaster occurred off the coast of Nova Scotia at an early hour on Tuesday morning, when the White Star ocean steamship Atlantic, went ashore on Mars Head, at Cape Prospect, during a heavy gale. It is understood that over 700 of the unfortunate passengers were lost out of the thousands who were on board. All of the women and children were drowned.

During her passage across, the Atlantic encountered very heavy weather, but all was well until Monday when it was ascertained that the coal was nearly all gone.

About 12 o'clock Capt. Williams and his officers believed that they were making straight for Sambro light, but two hours later the vessel struck. The scene at that moment was a terrible one. The steamer bumped on the rocks two or three times as the heavy waves lifted her, showing that her doom was sealed. Scarcely had the first shock been felt than the passengers rushed from their berths in cabin and steerage on to the main deck, all being terrified and awe-stricken by the perils that surrounded them.

An attempt was then made to cut away the boats, and one was soon filled with men and women. It was too late, however, for the steamer suddenly careened leeward, falling over on to her beam ends, and almost immediately sinking, the boat already spoken of being swamped and going down with her.

So close in to shore was the steamer when she struck, that several of the sailors succeeded in swimming ashore with a line after they found themselves thrown into the sea. Fortunately, the fishermen who live on the coast were on the lookout, and they assisted the third officer and his companions in hauling in a rope by means of the haulyns they had so bravely carried ashore. By means of this line some 250 men succeeded in getting safe to land, though, shocking to relate, none of the women or children escaped alive, all going down in the raging sea.

David Griggs has brought suit against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for $10,000 damages, for being delayed and prevented from reaching the Capital in time for the inauguration, and for being left in a car a long distance from the depot, and while there attacked by a gang of thieves and robbed of $60 in money and property to the amount of $6,000; that being of such an advanced age, he could not defend himself, and had, in company with his wife, to make his way on foot through the cold and inclement weather to the city.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

The argument for a new trial in the case of Stokes will be heard at the General Term of the Supreme Court on April 22.

Instructions to Postmasters to collect postage on weekly newspapers mailed to points within the county where they are published and also on newspaper exchanges, on and after the 1st of July next, will shortly be issued by the Postmaster-General.

The new Coinage act went into operation on Tuesday, by which the U. S. Mint becomes the bureau of the Treasury Department and has under its control all mints for the manufacture of coin and all assay offices for the stamping of bars.

Friday, the 18th of April, has been set apart by the State Legislature of New York as the occasion for pronouncing the eulogy upon the late Hon. Wm. H. Seward, Charles Francis Adams, The exercises will take place in the First Reformed Church, Albany.

A man named Daniel S. Marsh, living in Charlestown, was arrested on Tuesday last, charged with the murder of his own son, an infant nine months old, in September 1871, by throwing him from the Fitchburg Railroad bridge. He was taken to the station house in Charlestown, when he confessed the deed and the manner in which he committed it.

When will people learn better than to be "fooling" with loaded guns and prying into the mystery of their contents? A young man in Providence had the top of his head blown off by an irritant gun the other day for his impertinence in trying to look through the barrel when it was loaded.

On Saturday the annual boat race between Oxford and Cambridge came off on the Thames and was won by Cambridge by three lengths. Great crowds lined the banks and filled all the available places. As usual much interest was manifested in London and business was almost entirely neglected.

Mr. Philip Bennett, of New Bedford, has a reliable hydrometer made of a simple slip of red cedar, on the back of which a strip of basswood with the grain running crosswise is closely glued. The basswood is very sensitive to dampness in the atmosphere, and foretells wet weather by swelling and curling up the cedar, while fair weather is predicted by the slip resuming its original flatness.

The new postal cards are soon to come in use according to all the reports. By the terms of the contract the Morgan Envelope Company, of Springfield, Mass., are to have five millions of the new postal cards ready for delivery on the 1st of May. The law calls for one hundred millions for the first year, but the Postmaster-General is of the opinion that one-third more will be needed for that period. The card will be three by five and an eighth inches in size, and will bear a one cent stamp and the water-mark "U. S. P. O. D."

Like the youth of some other places, the Pittsburgh (Mass.) boys, to the number of fifty or sixty, rush out of evening meetings as soon as the benediction is pronounced, and stand ready to offer their company to their opposites of the other sex as they come out. One of these young bloods was about giving his arm to the girl of his choice, a few nights ago, when her father, who hasn't a bit of romance in his soul, but a mighty sight of vigor in his muscles, stepped up, and, in the situation in which he was, grasped the youth by his coat collar, lifted him about a yard clear of the ground, and nearly shook him out of his trousers. The young man has been shy of that Miss ever since. He says "it isn't safe to be hanged round a girl whose father acts like a derelict."

The reports regarding the loss of life by the tornado in the vicinity of Canton, Miss., on Friday night, are contradictory. A special despatch from Canton says, buildings, trees, fences and everything in the course of the storm were handled like straws, and for a time the atmosphere seemed thick with limbs and fragments of trees, timbers from buildings and fence rails. Wild rumors were circulated last night as to the extent of the number killed and wounded, and it has been ascertained that only two persons were killed and fifteen to twenty injured. The number of buildings entirely destroyed is estimated at thirty, besides a large number are damaged to a greater or less extent. A despatch from the interior says that the loss of life will reach twenty. A despatch from Jackson says about a dozen houses were destroyed, one negro killed, one lady fatally injured and a number of other persons seriously injured.

A daring attempt was made, in Brooklyn on Monday night last, to burn the building 415 Fulton street, opposite Berrum street, occupied by different parties for business purposes. The second floor of the premises is occupied by C. H. Daniels, a costumer, and in a rear room, and his well stocked with costumes, the foreman discovered two fires—one under the shelves and the other in a closet. The flames had made but little headway and were soon extinguished by two policemen who were called in. A bottle of alcohol and a glass of turpentine were found in the closet, and the floor about the fire was saturated with the fluids. After the excitement caused by the fire had in a degree subsided it was discovered that a Spanish costume suit, valued at about one hundred dollars, had been stolen from the room. The door leading from this apartment into the hallway was unlocked, and the key, which had been missing for several months, was found on a shelf close by. Mr. Daniels was not present, having left town in the middle of the day, and the insurance upon his stock could not, therefore, be ascertained.
